A Message from Fr. Angelito

Dear Friends in Christ,

Happy EASTER to all!

I Am the RESURRECTION!

St John Vianney, the Cure de Ars used to say from the pulpit,

"My dear parishioners, we must do all our best to go to heaven. There we shall see God. How happy we shall be! We ought to go there in procession, with the Pastor in front. All of us must get into heaven. If some of you get lost on the way, it will spoil everything." As your Pastor, I entirely agree with St. John. We will all be rejoicing and extremely happy when we all get there!

"Behold, I make all things new." In the resurrection of Jesus, we see the transformation of all things. Jesus is the first fruit of all those who have died. We, as Christians, believe in the total transformation of all creation. All creation is already charged with God's grandeur, yet still, we await God's fullness to be revealed.

It seems that all the earth groans, waiting for the fullness of God's revelation. We are earth-born but heaven-bound. The power of the resurrection reminds us that we, too, in our earthly existence, will be transformed by God's Holy Spirit. In God, there is mercy in the sight of sin, and there is healing amidst suffering and sickness, there is satisfaction for the starving, joy replaces sorrow and life, life eternal replaces death. He died so that we might live.

The more we love, the more we have to suffer. Have you ever wondered about the meaning of a candle and what it stands for? The use of candles can be traced to the night of the Passover, the Lord's Easter. The early Christians used candles to symbolize Christ's presence amidst the world's darkness. Just as Christ, the Light of the world, has been consumed for love, the candle offers its light by consuming itself. It is a sign, and, like every sign, it speaks to us, and it carries its meaning. On a personal note, the candle has revealed to me a great deal. I fixed my eyes on it at great length on the night of Easter and made it mine on Sunday morning during Mass. Later, I made significant progress in understanding the meaning of the flame consuming the wax.

May the joyous spirit of Easter penetrate and animate every fiber of my being. Amen.

May God bless you,

Father Angelito

Parish Weekend Collection & Attendance Reporting

Due to the early Easter-related bulletin publication deadline, the collection data for the weekend of April 10, April 15 and the April 17 Second Collection will be published in the April 24 bulletin.

The tallying of the Easter collection is ongoing at this time of the year as cash and checks earmarked for Easter continue to come in through the mail and weekend masses. We will publish the amount of the Easter collection in the next few weeks.

Thank you for your faithful stewardship and financial support of the parish.
